City workers asking raises

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A move to place the city in binding arbitration could come as early as next week with representatives of City Hall Workers Local 789.

According to Bob Brown, staff representative for the workers, he will give the city one more week to take action on the proposed raise contract before arbitration is sought.

"The city is either ignoring us or just doesn't respect us," Brown said.

The city was presented a proposed ordinance on the pay increase on April 15. At the time, no formal council action was taken.

Since that time, the ordinance has been referred to the city finance committee and later to the city negotiating committee.

Brown said he has written several letters to the council concerning the disposition of the ordinance, but has received no reply.

But Alderman Jeff Worthen, a member of the city negotiating committee, said all of the unions were sent letters last week explaining the procedure and order in which contracts will be reviewed.

Worthen said there are several reasons for the delays in the city-union agreements.

One of the reasons is that the ordinance was presented during the former administration. Since May 7, there has been a change in aldermen and a change in the members of the negotiating committee.

"The only 'old' member of the negotiating committee is Phil Miller," Worthen said. "It has taken myself and Brett Hanke a while to familiarize ourselves with the proposed contracts — they are very complicated."

Worthen said the committee hopes to be able to start negotiating with the street department union within the next two weeks.

"The committee decided to take the negotiating sessions one union at a time," Worthen said. "We will be starting with the street department. This policy was explained to the other unions by letters."

Worthen said another reason the contracts are delayed is because the

Meeting postponed

A meeting set up to air grievances of Granite City senior citizens has been cancelled.

The meeting was scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Monday, July 15, by Granite City town board members.

IT WAS CONTINGENT on the availability to attend of Granite City Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer.

According to Bernice Hagnauer, a township employee and wife of the supervisor, Hagnauer has a previous engagement that evening and will not be at the meeting.

Granite City Mayor Von Dee Crusz said he will ask town board members to reschedule a new date at Tuesday's Town Board meeting.

JOHN PETISH SR., one of several seniors desiring to talk with Hagnauer concerning the supervisor's handling of senior citizens' activities, said Friday most seniors were unaware the meeting was cancelled.

Petish said he heard the meeting was cancelled when he met with two township board members.

Hitchhiker killed at Skelly's

MADISON — An 19-year-old hitchhiker was shot and killed early Friday on the parking lot of Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza (Skelly's) at Route 203 and Interstate 70-55.

The victim, Randy A. Reed, of Meridian, Miss., was apparently picked up by a truck driver at a Troy truck stop. He was let out at Skelly's, St. Clair County Coroner Richard Stone said Saturday.

Several men were seen in the vicinity of the shooting shortly before the incident occurred about 5 a.m. Friday.

Madison City Police Department requested assistance from the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation in the murder investigation.

Reed suffered a gunshot wound to the stomach with a small-caliber handgun.

DCI authorities said the victim was pronounced dead at the scene by Stone at 6:25 a.m. Friday.

A preliminary investigation indicates several men had approached the victim who was reportedly shot while trying to enter a truck on the

Actress going through stages

A vivacious personality adds flair to an aspiring young actress. And that "full of life" quality comes through in Karen Leigh Fuller of Granite City.

Karen is pursuing an acting career in several ways at once.

SHE IS A THEATER major at the University of Illinois, where she will start classes in a few weeks and plans to "audition for everything."

Meanwhile, Karen is "getting a biology class out of the way" this month at Granite City Center to give her more freedom to pursue her acting studies at the university.

She also is making television commercials and recently finished a role in the Theater Factory's opening production in St. Louis.

THE GRANITE CITY resident was cast as June in the Moss Hart-George Kaufman comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," at the CBC Theater on Clayton Road, St. Louis.

The production opened the Theater Factory's summer season in mid-June, with performances running through July 7.

"I was lucky to get involved with this group. They are really exciting to work with," Karen said this week, discussing the Theater Factory actors and directors.

BRENDAN BURKE, who directed the play, replaced Dudley Moore on Broadway in "Beyond the Fringe."

Burke recently completed his 14th season with The Rep in St. Louis.

The cast of "The Man Who..." also included professional St. Louis actors and guest artists with Broadway and off-Broadway credentials.

It was truly a heady ensemble of experienced actors for a young woman to join on stage, authorities say. She is a 1984 Granite City High School honor graduate and was that year's May Carolus queen.

KAREN APPEARS to take it all in stride, however, and her enthusiasm is obvious and contagious.

Visitors to Chicago can catch Karen on WTTN, the Public Broadcasting System channel, where she auditioned and was chosen recently to tape the station's identification commercial.

BECAUSE HER U. of I. commitments start in the next few weeks, she is unable to join the cast of the Theater Factory's 12 performances of the 1959 musical "The Nervous Set" which opens July 18.

Her enthusiasm was undiminished, however, as she explained that former St. Louisians Jay and Fran Landesman wrote the musical, which was a hit at the old Crystal Palace in Gaslight Square.

"The show had quite a cult following in St. Louis a long time ago and the Landesmans rewrote it for Broadway, but it bombed," Karen said.

"So they are going to open the play this week in its original form and Jay and Fran Landesmans are coming from London to see it," she said.

"THE ACTORS are mostly from New York and about half are from the Circle Repertory in New York. This could be something really exciting and go on to Broadway and this time be a hit," she said.

"They asked me to do the show (Nervous Set) and I also auditioned and was accepted by the St. Louis Shakespearean Company, but both interfere with school starting," Karen explained.

"I am going to work on 'The Nervous Set,' doing costumes and sets, but I have to go to school before the show closes," she said.

Karen said the Landesmans' son, Rocky Landesman, wrote and produced the current Broadway hit musical, "Big River," which collected many of the Tony Awards this year.

"THE SHOW only opened after Christmas and won all the awards. The Landesmans made a lot of money and decided to do 'The Nervous Set' here," she said.

While in St. Louis, Fran and Jay Landesman will star in a special presentation of the musical, "Cabaret Night," which opens Sunday, July 14, and runs through Tuesday, July 16, the local actress said.

Karen is busily engaged in various non-acting tasks with this production also, thereby increasing her practical experience. She already has achieved some experience in carpentry, lighting, costume construction and design, all related to theater work.

"I'M AUDITIONING for every show they are going to produce at the University of Illinois," Karen said this week.

She is a member of the Illinois

Banks want to maintain public 'loans'

By Jack Anderson
and Joseph Spear
WASHINGTON — These days the holdup men are on the other side of the counter at your friendly neighborhood bank. And if the banking industry has its way, Americans will keep getting robbed each time they deposit a check in their accounts.

For years, bankers have insisted that "clearing" a check — making sure there are no funds to cover it in the account on which it was drawn — takes many days, a claim that doesn't wash in this age of computers and high-tech communications. But it's certainly no mystery why the bankers have perpetuated this myth — and why they're gearing up a massive lobbying effort to shoot down a proposed law that would let customers use the money they deposit right away, rather than waiting a week or two. When they can clear a deposited check in a matter of hours (while making the customer wait as long as two weeks to write checks against those funds), they get free use of the idle money.

Multipled by millions of checks each day, that gives bankers interest-free loans from their customers worth billions of dollars a year.

Bankers call the time between when a customer deposits the check, and when they can use it the "float." If any other industry were to try the same trick, they would be accused of check "kiting." In fact, that is exactly what officials of the brokerage firm of R.F. Hutton pleaded guilty to: floating checks on a systematic basis to get interest-free loans, at the expense of the banks with which they were dealing.

Now even such diverse politicians as Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., and Rep. Bernard S. Gorman, D-R.I., agree that it may be time to put an anchor on the bankers' float. St. Gorman cited these typical abuses:

— A Pennsylvania man — a retired banker, no less — deposited a federal tax-refund check for more than $1,000, waited one day for it to clear and then wrote a check against it. The bank bounced his check and charged him a $30 overdraft fee.

— In a small California town, a customer depositing a check in his checking account a check for $1,295 drawn from his savings account in a bank just down the street. He had to wait seven days for the check to clear.

— A New York City man got a $1,000 check from his credit union, deposited it in his checking account at a bank a few miles away, and waited six days before writing an $800 check to pay for a car.

The check still bounced, and not only was he stuck with the overdraft charge, the credit-card company charged him a month's interest on his bill.

DESERVED HERO: President Reagan has turned his bank on a World War II hero he praised effusively only six years ago: Draza Mihailovich, the Yugoslav army general who fought Nazis but was executed as a traitor by Marshal Tito's victorious communists.

In a 1979 letter to a group that wants to erect a statue to honor Mihailovich's rescue of hundreds of American airmen shot down over Yugoslavia, Reagan called him a "faithful Allied commander and the first anti-Nazi leader in Europe."

But more recently, through a spokesman, Reagan backtracked. He called Mihailovich's role "controversial" and said he opposes a monument because it would mean taking sides in a "bitter historical dispute."

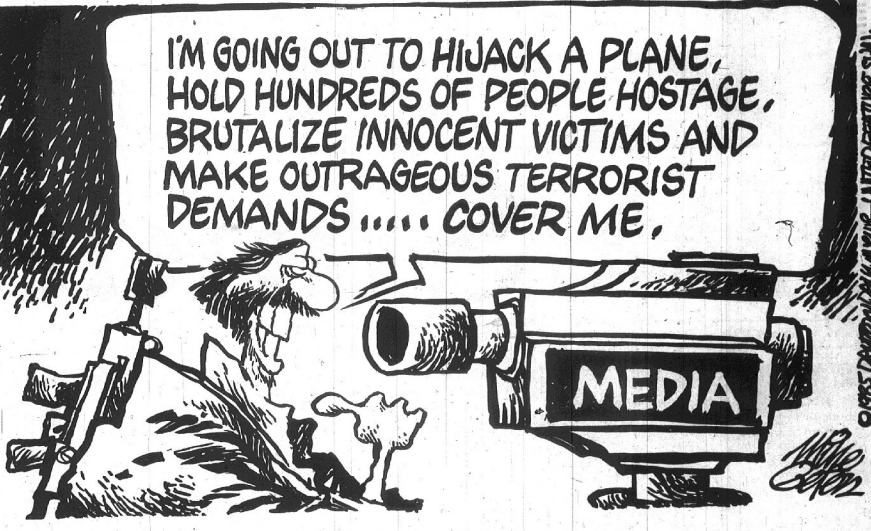

DANGEROUS AIRPORTS: The Federal Aviation Administration has kept track of hijackings and attempted hijackings at airports around the world since 1970 — and the results are surprising. By far the most incidents — 64 — have occurred at U.S. airports, more than the number recorded in Lebanon, India, Colombia, West Germany, the Philippines, Japan, Iran, Venezuela and France combined.

Two cities are tied for first place in this dubious contest: New York's LaGuardia and Kennedy airports have a total of 19 incidents since 1970, as has Miami's International Airport. Until the TWA hijacking three weeks ago, Athens airport had only two in the same period.

POLITICAL POTPOURRI: The Democrats, far from surrendering the national arena to the Republicans, have just begun to fight. As they're fighting themselves, the latest occasion for internecine bickering is the $1,000-a-plate gala in Washington, D.C., in October. Sentimentalists want to give proper respect to ex-President Jimmy Carter and his vice president, Walter Mondale. Hard-eyed realists want to ignore the 1980 and 1984 losses and concentrate instead on potential 1988 presidential candidates.

Interestingly, no one seems to care one way or the other about the party's 1972 candidate, former Sen. George McGovern.

Understanding park role in community

Peace be unto all. I would like to thank the editors of this paper for allowing me this opportunity to address their readership at this time and to talk about the Venice Park District and the activities we have planned.

First, I feel there needs to be a greater understanding of the park district and the roles of the park commissioners and staff members.

Park districts are chartered by the state and must adhere to state statutes pertaining to such districts. A park district has the responsibility of maintaining the parks in good condition for outdoor activities. Also, we have the responsibility of providing recreation activities for the entire community.

In recent years, the Venice Park Board and staff have tried diligently to achieve these objectives. We have a park, bowling and skating over winter months, a summer baseball league and teenage dances. We are planning a recreational outing for adults in the near future.

We feel the many programs now going on during the summer months answer the challenges that we are charged to handle.

There are five elected board members, each with a term of six years. At the annual meeting of the board, held each April, the elected commissioners vote to determine the officers for the coming year. The board elects a president and vice president.

Currently, the secretary and treasurer are hired positions, the reason being that park commissioners by state law cannot receive pay while they are serving as commissioners. These are volunteer positions filled by people who are dedicated to community service.

This year for the first time, the board felt a need to hire a general manager. This newly created position will assist the board in becoming more organized and able to conduct the activities of the park district in a more effective and businesslike manner.

All the commissioners have full-time jobs and responsibilities that sometimes limit their activities relating to the park.

The other board employees include the recreation director (I and II), the park police, park attorney, superintendent, general laborer and clerk-typist. Each of these positions has a responsibility that is vital to the success of the programs we have planned.

To offer Venice citizens these many activities and programs, the board passes a budget each year and levies a tax to cover it. The taxes

The final step is to get a written commitment from the plumbers involved to ensure their fees stay within the contracted amounts.

Agreement has been received verbally, but has yet to be written.

Therefore, in a matter of days, this obstacle will be straightened out and construction will begin shortly afterward.

I feel the entire Venice Board of Park Commissioners, the staff and all employees of the Venice Park District should be commended for the job they have done and are continuing to do to help maintain area for outdoor recreation and provide summer recreational opportunities for area youth.

Accentuating the positive in GC and Busch

One of the joys of my 40 years of newspapering has been the opportunity to say nice things about people, programs and events. Today's subject is Dal Maxwell.

It is true that news media must report unpleasant as well as pleasant facts. With the time (22 minutes of news on a nightly 30-minute program), TV network newscasters sometimes seem to dwell only on depressing occurrences.

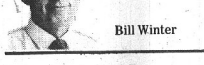

Somebody once figured out that the half-hour format permits a newspaper-size page or less of information. Papers, with much more space, can present a broader spectrum of news, including many individuals' accomplishments. So, here goes.

The St. Louis Cardinals have been flying high, occupying first place in baseball's National League East. This is a happy time for fans, who in April were told by the experts that the Redbirds would finish third or worse in the six-team division.

With Granite City's Maxwell serving as their general manager, it will be great if the Cards can capture a world title in his first year, just as they did when Dal's idol and former teammate, Stan Musial, held the GM job.

But regardless of the outcome of the 1985 pennant race, it seems fitting to voice praise for Maxwell, and those who had the wisdom to hire him away from Ted Turner's coaching staff in Atlanta.

Columnists' club

Bill Winter

What has he done so far? Well, for one thing, the trade for Ivan DeJesus has helped bolster the infield, in this ex-sports writer's opinion.

And, as is often said, some of the best "trades" are those a team has the good sense not to make.

Avoiding a big turnover in personnel even when they were having trouble climbing above the .500 mark, the Cardinals have emerged as one of the fastest, best-fielding teams in the major leagues ever.

It's a wonderful game to play and watch. And Manager Herzog's "White-ball" tactics are dazzling the big stadium crowds, whose numbers this summer are being tallied at a record pace, taking into account the histories of both Busch and Sportsman's Park.

Speaking of Sportsman's, I recall taking a McKinley Bridge street car and walking to Grand and Dodier on the autumn Sunday when the Cardinals and Browns met in 1944, the only year the two played each other in the World Series. Mort Cooper pitched the Cards to a 2-0 win that day, and one of the runs was a home run to a point near where I was seated in the bleachers.

Maxvill was too young to remember that game as vividly as I do; he is nearly a decade younger each year in the World Series.

Maxvill also has several World Series rings earned on other teams, and it is no accident. He has been a champion-caliber contributor not only on several ball teams but in many other endeavors.

I recall hearing him speak to the St. John's United Church of Christ Brotherhood, Granite City Rotarians, the Salvation Army Tree of Lights kickoff, a number of Granite City Park District sports banquets and other Quad-City area gatherings.

He was so dependable, so willing, that his accumulated involvement surely took up more of his free time than could have been expected from the hero of thousands of young Granite City athletes. He could have honorably ducked some of those requests, but that is not his style.

He has done much for which he will never get full credit — and my list is far from complete — but recognition was not his goal. One got the feeling he truly enjoyed sharing his experiences, insights and humor with audiences here. He never forgot that local children's sports competition, including the former Granite City Police Leagues, gave him his start.

As noted at the start of this column, one of the best parts of news coverage is the chance to help spotlight persons who have worked to make the community and world a better place. One such individual is Dal Maxwell.

And — as maybe even your general manager may explain occasionally — how about those "Birds!"

result in the following "happy news" publication: government; sports, if the home team wins; entertainment without reviews; and maybe an opinion piece, so long as all the opinions are those of a cheerleader.

No police news, honest opinions or unbiased government reporting. In practice, no praxis.

To some, that's how it should be. But not to everyone in this country.

Not to those who value truth.

To the Editor:
The column in the July 7 Press-Record/Journal was in poor taste.

In 1979 I had triple bypass heart surgery. My therapy since surgery has been walking. I have walked, jogged, around Wilson Park hundreds of times in the past six years, in all kinds of weather.

I have seen several motorists who take both sides of the street to drive in one direction. I have seen the police stop cars for illegal driving.

I was crossing State Street at 29th Street one day, a 4-way stop. A car going south on State went through the stop, doing at least 50 miles per hour. If I had continued across the street as I started, I would not be here today.

If streets around Wilson Park are not wide enough for the columnist to drive on, maybe he should take a different route. Maybe he should drive on the grass and through the 70 acres of shade trees. From what he says, nobody walks under the shade trees; they are all in the street.

Maybe if he had a problem as I have and other people who walk and jog have, and he had to get off his rear, he would like to walk around Wilson Park instead of walking along Madison Avenue or Namekoi Road and smelling all the carbon monoxide, as he suggested.

Maybe he should try walking. It might be good for his health. And it is not crowded when walking, like it is when he drives around Wilson Park in his auto.

I think he should get his facts straight before he takes up another 13 inches of newspaper space criticizing walkers and runners around Wilson Park.

If a news event isn't reported, did the event really occur?

Some blame the media for bad news. If it wasn't reported it wouldn't occur. It seems to be the thinking of the Agony Syndrome.

Coverage of the hostage situation in Beirut, and an accident at Granite City Steel, illustrate the point.

As with any major event, coverage of the hijacking incident is being scrutinized and critiqued. That's fair. But it seems some want less coverage of such events.

In Granite City, the hometown newspaper heard from a woman waiting nothing in the newspaper about a fatal accident at Granite City Steel. She said such news would result in lost jobs.

She believed the Metro East's second largest industrial employer, a company sophisticated in its understanding of the public's need to know, would shut down because we planned to report an accident.

Put into action, the logical consequences of such thinking would

Injunction on GMI dissolved

A court order issued Friday dissolves GMI Corporation of a temporary injunction placed on it Tuesday.

The injunction was placed on GMI and Jerry-Russell Bliss Inc. because of an investigation into waste material on GMI property in Venice.

The complaint, filed by Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan's office, alleged two open tanks on GMI's property contain hazardous chemicals. The tanks are reportedly owned by Bliss.

Hartigan said Tuesday he was seeking a permanent injunction against the two companies that would eventually result in a shut-down and cleanup of the Venice site.

The dissolution of the order was handed down by Madison County Chief Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick. According to the order, GMI agrees to cooperate with the attorney general's office to restrict access to the tanks and to prevent any materials from being added or removed from the tanks.

The order also states GMI reserves its rights to raise any constitutional objections or any other defenses.

The order does not dissolve the injunction placed on Bliss.

Park vocal music slated

Granite City Park District "Music Under the Stars" choruses will present their third concert of the season Tuesday, July 16, at 8 p.m. at the Wilson Park Pool Pavilion.

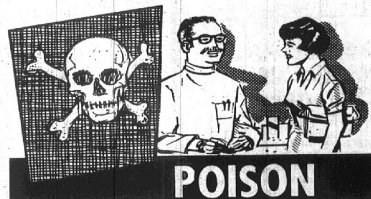

The choruses will present: "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "Cornerstone," a medley from "Fiddler on the Roof," "Hallelujah," "You're My Soul and Inspiration," "It's a Small World," "Home," "Standing on the Corner," a medley from "Man of La Mancha," "Flying Free," "Side By Side" and a medley from "Jesus Christ Superstar."

The concert will be held regardless of the weather. Admission is free and ample seating is provided by the park district.

Rehearsals are held every Monday and Thursday in the vocal room at Granite City High School. Children in kindergarten through the eighth grade rehearse from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. Adults and high school students rehearse from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. New members should attend the Thursday, July 18, rehearsals.

Water district collecting fees

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

"Tap-on fee deadline Aug. 15." Arlington Heights residents will see this notice in the form of signs in their neighborhood beginning Aug. 1.

THE ARLINGTON Heights Water District is collecting user fees from residents for hook-up to a water system. Last month, notices were sent to residents who have signed user contracts for the water system, asking that they pay the remainder of the $800 user fee.

So far, the district has received 10 payments of $750 from residents who paid an initial $50 deposit.

Water District President Jerry Lilley said in addition to 136 homes, notices were sent to two apartment complexes and the golf course, but he has heard nothing from them yet. The apartment complexes and the golf course will be linked to the water system for $1,500 each.

FOR THOSE who cannot afford to pay the user fee, Lilley said, arrangements have been made to supply short-term loans to residents wishing to pay the fee. In addition to banks and savings and loans listed on the notice, Eagle Bank in Collinsville has indicated a willingness to participate.

Water district consulting engineer Dennis Denby of M.B. Corlew and Associates Inc. told water district commissioners Thursday they may have trouble collecting about 10 percent of the fees.

Lilley said he would like to see how many payments are received next month before considering methods of collection and possible penalties for late payments. It was decided to erect three signs reminding residents of the fee collection deadline.

THE COLLECTION of fees is a requirement by the U.S. Farmers Home Administration, which is considering loaning the water district funds for construction of the water system.

In addition to the fees, FmHA officials have requested all easements, all user contracts and the final loan application.

Denby said the district has most of the easements it needs for construction of the water system. However, he said, there may be a problem with easements outside the district because some of those residents have stipulated on their easement contracts that they want free tap-on to the water line and one resident has asked for free water for six months.

THE WATER DISTRICT commissioners decided to turn over all easements to water district attorney Bill Lucco for his review.

In another matter, Commissioner Marlene Miller asked if user fees could be collected from owners of vacant lots. Some lot owners have asked that they be allowed to pay the fee now instead of waiting until homes are constructed.

Denby said the lot owners (and other residents who have not signed tap-on contracts) will have to pay $1,600 to tap on to the system because they did not sign contracts before the deadline last November. He noted the tap-on fee requires a water meter be installed and a minimum monthly bill be paid.

THE WATER DISTRICT submitted its loan application package to FmHA June 19. Now the district is waiting for a letter of condition from the agency, which Denby expects by next month. Once the letter is received, the district can begin surveying and constructing a water system.

For nine years, Arlington Heights residents have been working for a water system to serve the subdivision. The Arlington Heights Water District, formed by election in September 1982, applied to FmHA for a loan to construct a rural water distribution system.

Commissioners expect to collect about $155,300 in user fees for the system. The remainder of the $450,000 project will be paid for through the 40-year loan.

THIS LATEST FmHA loan application is the fourth for the subdivision. Previous applications were rejected or lost. And, water district commissioners said, when the first loan application was submitted, the project was estimated to cost $247,000.

The water district is negotiating with both the Maryville Water District and Illinois-American Water Co. for cost estimates to supply water to the Arlington Water District.

Once installed, the system will provide not only drinking water, but fire protection capabilities in the form of small hydrants which can fill pumper trucks.

Arlington Heights residents have sought a water system because of the high mineral content of well water in the subdivision.

Campers having 'good time'

"Everyone is having a good time and learning some important lessons, too," according to James R. Gavin, director of the Tri-City Area YMCA Day Camp. Friday, July 12, marked the end of the fourth week of the camp, which is for boys and girls aged 6-13 years.

Activities thus far have included kickball, swimming lessons, recreational swimming, relays and direction-following games.

The campers have also visited Wilson Park, the Granite City Public Library, St. Louis Zoo, Museum of Transport, Magic House, Old Cathedral, Gateway Arch and Six Flags amusement park.

Campers arrive at the "Y" at 7:30 a.m. and enjoy a morning filled with activities. They take their lunch out, followed by a period of rest. The afternoon is spent swimming, playing games and taking tours until parents pick up their children at 5:30.

This week, July 15-19, the campers will visit the Botanical Gardens in St. Louis.

The fee for the camp is $30 per week for "Y" members, $40 for non-members, plus $5 to cover the expense of the bus. For this week only, however, the YMCA is offering a special "bring a buddy" day. Campers who register may bring a friend with them on Monday, July 15.

At the end of the camp on Aug. 15, the "Y" will hold a camp reunion, and all those who attended at least one week will be given a ticket to the St. Louis Cardinals game with the Pittsburgh Pirates. The bus will leave the YMCA at 11 a.m. and return immediately following the game.

The Tri-City Area YMCA is now participating in the Houston Bankdraft system for the convenience of "Y" members. "One can take out a membership on the bankdraft plan and not worry about having to write a check every month," a spokesman said.

"There are only three Granite City Steel discount memberships remaining, and St. Elizabeth Medical Center associates have only 53 discount memberships remaining. Both of these institutions have taken advantage of a corporate agreement in which the YMCA absorbs 30 percent of the membership cost, the institution pays 35 percent and the individual member pays the remaining 35 percent.

Take seat belt law seriously, Ill. Bar urges

Since July 1, Illinois law has required that drivers and front seat passengers of motor vehicles wear safety seat belts. There are limited exceptions to the Mandatory Seat Belt Law, but according to the Illinois State Bar Association, the law will affect almost all vehicles on Illinois streets and highways.

Illinois is the sixth state to adopt a seat belt law. The head of the State Bar Committee on Traffic Laws and Courts, Richard J. Hackett, says the law should be complied with, not just because of the penalty for non-compliance, but "because seat belts can save your life and your family."

Provisions of the law include:

- 1) Each driver and front seat passenger of a motor vehicle which is in operation shall wear a seat belt.
- 2) Failure to wear a seat belt will result in a fine up to $100. This is not considered a moving violation.
- 3) Each driver of a motor vehicle transporting a child 6 years of age or older, but less than 16 years of age, is required to secure the child in a seat belt. Children under 6 years old are required to be seated in approved child restraint systems.
- 4) Exceptions to the seat belt requirement:

- A driver or passenger frequently stopping and leaving the vehicle or delivering property and not exceeding 15 miles per hour.
- An individual possessing a written statement from a physician explaining why that person cannot wear a seat belt for medical or physical reasons.
- A motor vehicle with a model year prior to 1965. It is not required to be equipped with seat belts under federal law.

Although failure to wear a seat belt is punishable by a fine, failure to comply with the law cannot be considered an evidence of negligence if an accident occurs, nor will it limit the liability of an insurance carrier.

Other states that have adopted mandatory seat belt laws are: New York, New Jersey, Michigan, Missouri and Indiana.

GC parks seek liability coverage

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Umbrella liability insurance coverage for the Granite City Park District will likely be purchased at a premium of $7,500 for the coming year.

The district agreed to buy insurance from the Bayley, Martin and Fay Insurance Co. at the June 19 meeting, but rates for umbrella coverage were not yet known.

BOB PAYSEUR, a representative of Bayley, Martin and Fay, said the maximum amount for the coverage would be $10,000, but he said at the time he would see if it could be bought for less.

Premiums for $1 million coverage would be $5,000, and the cost would be $7,500 for $2 million coverage.

"We put in our (tentative) appropriation ordinance enough to cover the $2 million coverage, so I think we can go ahead with that," said George Sykes, board president.

BOARD MEMBER Jeff Worthen encouraged the other board members to write their state legislators about the problems park districts and school districts have had in getting proper insurance coverage.

"I noticed the Venice schools were having some trouble with it and Granite City, too," he said. "This is draining the taxpayers' dollars and I hope we can let our representatives know."

"We had to come down to the wire with our insurance," Sykes said. "But we had to figure out something to do. We can't close down our operation. Our insurance costs are up, but I think we have enough to cover this in the budget."

IN OTHER BUSINESS, Adrean Rains, maintenance supervisor, said some work needs to be done on the chlorinator at the Wilson Park swimming pool.

"The motor went out two or three weeks ago," he said. "But there is no danger to the swimmers."

"The water clarity is fine. It is something that needs to be taken care of, however."

RECEIPTS FROM the 4th of July park festival are in. The district figures to make a profit of approximately $3,580.

Total receipts to date are $39,032 and expenditures are $34,119. The expenditures do not include a $1,333 payment yet to be made to the Granite City Police Department.

"I think since we made money on the carnival this year we could think about spending maybe $8,000 on the fireworks next year," said board member Barry Loman.

"IT SEEMED LIKE they were over right after they began this year. We could spend a little more on it and have a better and little longer show," Loman continued.

"Everything seemed to go very well this year," Sykes said.

County has insurance problem

Madison County may be unable to obtain liability insurance coverage after its present coverage expires on July 22, County Board members were told at a special meeting July 9.

If the county becomes self-insured, by choice or otherwise, losses would be financed by increased property taxes.

The present liability insurance carrier, Governmental Interinsurance Exchange, notified the county in May that its present $1 million liability policy will end July 22. The county has had the policy since 1978, paying a $280,000 per year premium.

County Director of Administration James K. Monday told the board that prospects for obtaining another policy do not now appear promising.

"The track record of counties around here is just not good for insurance companies," Monday said, referring to a history of large awards for damages in area courts.

If the county became self-insured, a policy for excess coverage — insurance against damages in excess of a specified amount — would be desirable if it can be obtained, Monday said.

Board member William R. Haine, D-Alton, said the county's self-insurance program for workmen's compensation has been a model program and said he thinks the county can also handle liability claims in a conservative, responsible fashion.

Haine warned, however, that the loss of liability insurance in a sense puts the small homeowner in the insurance business, as property taxes can be raised without limit to cover claims.

The board approved a resolution authorizing its Central Services Committee to obtain a new insurance policy or enter into a self-insurance program for liability coverage without further board action.

GC park charge plan being formulated

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A proposal for uniform rates for Park District programs was made Wednesday.

Jeff Worthen, chairman of the Granite City park board's finance committee, wrote up a plan calling for passes covering the entire winter season of programs, as well as passes for each of two eight-week sessions.

THE BOARD TOOK no action on the plan, preferring to look over Worthen's proposal further before coming back with ideas at the next board meeting July 24.

For programs consisting of two eight-week sessions, the cost per session for adults who are residents of the park district would be $7.50; for children in the district, $5; for non-resident adults, $17.50; and for non-resident children, $10.

Two of the proposals would be offered only to participants showing proof of residence or a Granite City Park District ID.

One is a winter program pass, including entry to all youth or adult winter programs offered.

A FAMILY PASS would be $25; an adult pass would be $15; and a children's pass would be $10.

The other proposal is a winter seasonal activity pass, including all of the same programs plus ice skating lessons and ice rink privileges at the Wilson Park Ice Rink. Those family passes would be $60; adult passes, $35; and children's passes, $20.

Ice rink charges would remain the same for district residents. Season family passes are $45, adults $25 ($1.30 admission fee), and children $15 (75-cent admission fee).

NON-RESIDENT ice rink season passes would be: family, $70; adults, $45 ($2 admission fee); and children, $25 ($1.30 admission fee).

"I think we will find more people willing to come out for these programs," Worthen said. "These costs aren't out of line at all. I think we could also try something for the summer programs and offer yearly passes, also."

Board member Barry Loman wondered if it was wise to pass a new fee policy while the district was without a director.

"THE NEW DIRECTOR might come in with some ideas of his own about this," Loman said. "I'm not saying anything against this, but he just might have some better ideas or suggestions for changes."

"He can suggest anything he wants," Worthen said. "That's fine. But it is the board's responsibility to set policy."

"I suggested this to get some consistency in our fees," said Board President George Sykes.

"I PERSONALLY don't think you will ever sell the seasonal passes. I know if I bought one, I would be worried about getting my $35 worth of skating in."

Worthen said there is still plenty of time to work out any changes.

"I didn't really want to take any action on this tonight," he said. "I tried to be as fair and equal as possible."

Man implicates Inman in stabbing

By ALAN SCULLY

A man charged as an accomplice testified Wednesday that Thomas Inman fatally stabbed Steven Gerstenecker of Troy and wounded Gerstenecker's companion, John Fink of rural Troy, in an incident Feb. 28 on an entrance ramp to I-55/70 near East St. Louis.

The witness, William Chilcutt III, 27, of Granite City, told a St. Clair County circuit court jury that he saw Inman stab Gerstenecker in the back two or three times. Inman told him he had also stabbed Fink, Chilcutt said.

Inman, 34, of Granite City, is charged with murder in the death of Gerstenecker, 27, and with armed violence, attempted murder, and aggravated battery for stabbing Fink. Inman's trial began Tuesday.

Chilcutt is charged with one count of attempted murder and two counts of armed violence. His testimony for the prosecution was in exchange for freedom from prosecution on a murder charge.

Chilcutt testified that after drinking and smoking marijuana during the day and early in the evening, he, Inman and Kyle Archer, 23, of Pontoon Beach, went to Roxy's night club in Brooklyn on the night of the murder. Archer is also charged in connection with the case.

Inman had argued with Gerstenecker in Roxy's, Chilcutt said. He said at one point he had to separate Inman and Gerstenecker before they could begin fighting.

He, Archer and Inman were then told by Roxy's security to leave; they sat in Chilcutt's van.

Inman said Gerstenecker had called him a "narc," Chilcutt testified. They discussed beating up Gerstenecker, Chilcutt said.

After they sat in the van for about 10 minutes, a Roxy's security guard told them to leave, he said.

It was at this point that Chilcutt saw Gerstenecker and Fink leave Roxy's, and he, Inman and Archer then followed Gerstenecker and Fink in the van, Chilcutt testified.

Chilcutt said he hit the rear of the car driven by Fink. Fink stopped his car on the exit ramp and came toward Chilcutt.

Chilcutt said he punched Fink, knocking him out, and then saw Archer and Gerstenecker tussle on the ground.

Gerstenecker was on top of Archer and was stabbed two or three times in the back with a hunting knife by Inman, Chilcutt said.

During cross-examination, Inman's lawyer, Stephen Rice, attempted to show that Chilcutt was a willing fighter, that he used drugs and drank, and that he collected knives and carried them with him.

The prosecutor is Assistant State's Attorney Keith Jensen.

He died at 8:43 a.m. Thursday, July 11, at Firmin Desloge Hospital in St. Louis.

Persons who may have seen or have information about the accident are being requested to contact the District 11 State Police at 345-1212.

BOGUS CHECK PASSED

A $618 check drawn on a bank that does not exist was cashed at the Granite City Steel Credit Union recently. Napoleon Cooper of East St. Louis said a friend had given him the check to cash at the credit union. The checking account was from the Herald Pullman Bank of Chicago. Cooper got the check back July 10 and the credit union told him the bank does not exist. Cooper said he had received another check from the same man but would not cash it after he learned the other check was a fake.

Subdivision pond prompts lawsuit by GC couple

Otis and Sandra Gosnell of Granite City filed suit June 28 against Troy, Mayor Ron Criley and Alderman Byron Joyce, alleging Criley and Joyce violated their constitutional rights during a long dispute over a detention pond in the Oakbridge Estates subdivision.

The suit seeks $500,000 in damages, $1 million in punitive damages, plus the cost of the suit. The lawsuit, filed in Madison County Circuit Court, claims that in 1978 and 1979 the city approved plans for the subdivision which included an area designated as a detention pond for surface drainage. The Gosnells are the developers of Oakbridge Estates.

The suit alleges that even though there are other subdivisions with similar ponds in the city, Criley and Joyce "systematically, intentionally, and purposefully" set out to deprive the Gosnells of their constitutional rights by refusing to accept the pond after approving the plans.

The city has maintained that the drainage pond is a danger to children living in the area and that the city approved a drainage easement on the plans, not a pond with standing water.

City attorney John Long said the pond is really a lagoon and larger than the Gosnells' plans indicated. The suit says the city allegedly told its building inspectors to refrain from making final inspections of buildings, told its city clerk to refuse to issue applications for building permits to the Gosnells and their agents, and refused to issue permits previously applied for.

These actions, the suit says, violated the Gosnells' right under the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments and constituted a "misuse of power" by Criley and Joyce.

The suit also alleges that the city filed for an injunction against further construction in the subdivision and filed a notice of a pending lawsuit "merely to create a cloud on the title to the lots."

The city filed for an injunction against the Gosnells in 1983 in Madison County Circuit Court, Long said. The court dismissed the case, but that ruling was overturned during an appeal.

The case was referred back to the Circuit Court and is still pending, Long said.

The suit also alleges that Criley and Joyce "maliciously" pursued a course which prevented Robert and Carole White from purchasing a lot they had agreed to buy in Oakbridge Estates.

The city also allegedly made "intimidating and threatening remarks to purchasers and prospective purchasers, including but not limited to statements that the city water service would not be provided" to the area.

7 counties cooperating in fight against child abductions

How would your child respond if approached by a stranger? Do you have a complete description and recent photograph of your child? Fingerprints? Such questions concern the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

Through a state grant, SILEC has established an I-SEARCH Unit in cooperation with the counties of Bond, Clinton, Madison, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington. The purpose of I-SEARCH is to provide educational and informational programs for prevention of child abduction and recovery of missing children.

Efforts to locate missing children sometimes have been hampered by a lack of current information about these children. Through the I-SEARCH program, local police now send facts about the disappearance and a description of the missing child to a statewide computer network.

Whenever a child is reported missing, information such as the child's age, physical description and specifics regarding the disappearance become instantly available to all law enforcement agencies, through the computer network, to aid in the search.

The SILEC I-SEARCH Unit will prepare programs for parents, teachers and communities on ways to prevent the abduction of children.

It will also provide training materials to teach children how to deal with strangers, and will distribute I-SEARCH identification kits for parents to record and keep information about each child.

These child information kits are to include recent photographs, fingerprints and personal information records on each child. The I-SEARCH Unit is currently soliciting volunteer help from service clubs to participate in implementation of these programs.

The I-SEARCH program is being directed by a 30-member board composed of representatives of local governments, law enforcement and education throughout the seven-county area.

Members of the board from Madison County are:

Fred Dalton, president, board of directors, Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission; Major Robert Hertz, representing Sheriff Emil J. Tofant; Nelson Hagnauer, chairman, Madison County Board; Michael S. Henkhaus, treasurer of Madison County; Harold Briggs, regional superintendent of schools; and Nic Mamino, chief of police, Collinsville.

Courage

Talley is back in the swim

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

For stroke victim Jim Talley, the Handicapped Swim Program has given him the courage to continue an activity he loves.

Talley, a Granite City resident, suffered a stroke during heart surgery in January of 1984.

Although he gained back much of his mobility through therapy, he still was hesitant to try swimming again.

"For Mr. Talley, the main problem was not the loss of swimming ability as much as it was the fear of getting into the water again," said Marian Hartung, an 11-year volunteer of the program.

"He was a good swimmer before the stroke, and that really helped," she said. "During the program, we've worked with different swimming motions to see which ones work best for him."

Talley's wife, Mildred, attested to her husband's swimming ability before the stroke.

"He once swam across the Ohio River — I call that a good swimmer," she said.

Talley said he heard about the program from another stroke victim who still participates in the classes.

Talley's accomplishments in the program include a 15-minute non-stop swim.

He said some swimming strokes have been harder for him than others because of his physical condition. Talley has almost total use of his right arm now, but is limited in the use of his right leg.

"I can't do the scissors kick because I can't coordinate the motions of my right leg with those of my left leg very well," he said.

Talley is pleased with the instruction offered to participants.

"Marian is an excellent teacher — she stayed right with me the whole way," he said. "The instruction is one on one, which is very beneficial."

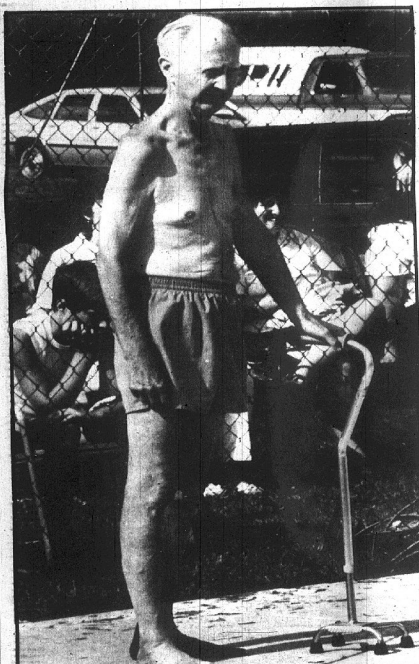

Talley said he intends to participate in the program in following years.

"I think the program is very worthwhile," he said. "And the Bowlers should be commended for their hospitality."

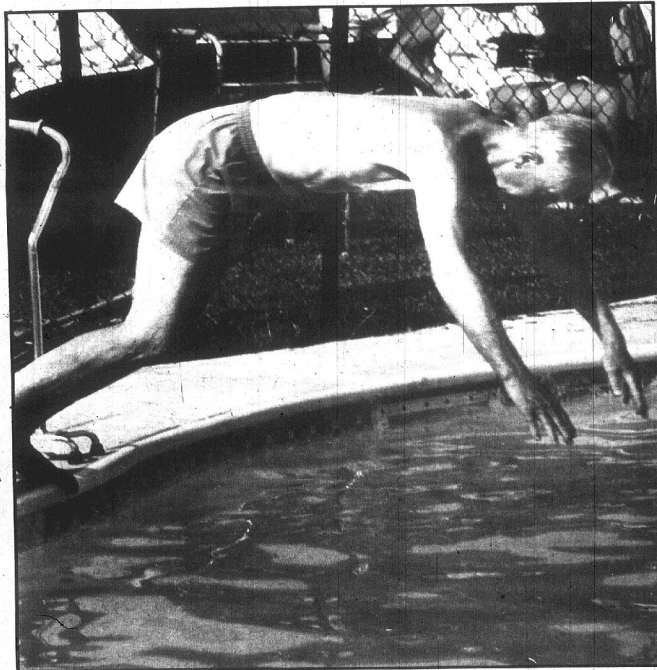

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bowler of Mockingbird Lane donate the use of their personal swimming pool for the program.

The four-week program is sponsored yearly by the Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross. The program offers swimming instruction to persons with mental or physical handicaps.

Short treats from around the kitchen

Roast Duckling

1 frozen duckling, defrosted
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup orange marmalade
 1 tsp. grated orange rind
 1/4 cup orange juice
 1/4 cup vinegar
 1 tbsp. prepared mustard
 2 tsp. cornstarch
 1/4 tsp. rosemary, if desired
 1/4 tsp. leaf tarragon, if desired

Wash, drain and pat duckling with paper toweling. Sprinkle neck and body cavities with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Skewer neck skin to back.

Insert rotisserie spit lengthwise through duck cavities, balancing it on spit; tighten holding prongs. Tie wings against breast. Tie legs together loosely, looping cord around tail. Attach spit to rotisserie.

Roast duckling until drumstick is tender and beautifully browned, about 3 hours. When using an electric or gas rotisserie follow manufacturer's directions.

If barbecuing with charcoal, use an aluminum pan 8" x 10" x 2" or make one from heavy foil and place under rotating spit so that the pan catches duckling's drippings, thus avoiding flare-up from the fire.

While duck is cooking prepare sauce by combining marmalade, orange rind, orange juice, vinegar, mustard, cornstarch, rosemary, tarragon and remaining 1/4 teaspoon salt in saucepan, mix. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, and cook until thickened.

Brush duckling with sauce several times during last 30 minutes of roasting. Serve remaining sauce with duck.

Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Crimson Tea

1/2 cup sweetened, lemon-flavored iced tea mix
 3 cups cranberry juice cocktail, chilled
 1 cup water
 1 medium orange, sliced
 1 medium apple, cut into wedges

In large pitcher, combine tea mix, cranberry juice, water, orange and apple.

Serve with ice. Garnish, if desired, with fresh mint leaves.

Makes about 4 servings.

Tangy Salad

1/2 cup olive oil
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 2 tbsp. ketchup
 1 clove garlic, minced
 1 tsp. seasoned salt
 1/2 tsp. pepper
 1 can (15 1/2 oz.) garbanzo beans, drained

Combine oil, lemon juice, ketchup, garlic, salt and pepper; mix well. Marinate beans in dressing; set aside.

Tear lettuce into bite-size pieces. Combine with watercress, onion, figs, tomato and olives.

Toss with dressing and beans.

Makes 6 servings.

Oriental Salad

1/2 lb. green beans, halves
 1/2 lb. bean sprouts
 2 fresh peaches, sliced
 1/2 cup cashews, peanuts or almonds

Lettuce

Hot and Sour Dressing

Bring 1 quart water to boil in saucepan. Add green beans and return to boil. Cook 2 minutes or until tender-crisp.

Put bean sprouts in colander. Pour green beans and cooking water over sprouts to soften. Drain well.

Arrange green beans, bean sprouts, peaches and nuts on lettuce-lined platter. Serve with Hot and Sour Dressing.

Makes 2 to 4 servings.

Hot and Sour Dressing: Combine 3 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons peanut butter, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 medium cloves garlic, 4 slices peeled fresh ginger root and 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper in blender. Whirl to blend. Slowly add 1/2 cup oil while blending at low speed.

Slender Wedges

1 head iceberg lettuce
 1 cup low-fat cottage cheese
 1/2 cup low-fat plain yogurt
 1 cup peeled, seeded and finely chopped cucumber
 1/2 tsp. dill
 1/2 tsp. mint
 Salt to taste

Alfalfa sprouts

1 basket cherry tomatoes (18 cherry tomatoes or 2 medium tomatoes, each in 6 slices)

1 carrot, cut into 6 slender strips or made into carrot curls

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce; chill in plastic bag or plastic crispener.

For dressing combine cottage cheese, yogurt, cucumber, dill, mint and salt; cover and chill.

Place a small bowl (2-cup capacity) in the center of a large round serving plate.

Cut lettuce head in half lengthwise, then with cut-side down, cut each half into three wedges.

Arrange wedges on serving platter in daisy pattern around center bowl. Nestle sprouts, tomatoes and carrot strips or curls between lettuce wedges. Spoon cottage cheese dressing into center bowl and serve.

Makes 6 servings, about 80 calories each, using 1/2 cup dressing.

Grilled Salmon

1 (5 to 8 lb.) whole dressed fresh/frozen salmon, thawed if necessary

Salt and pepper

2 tsp. butter or margarine, softened

1/2 medium onion, sliced

1/2 lemon, sliced

2 or 3 sprigs fresh parsley

Oil

Lemon wedges

Wash salmon and pat dry. Sprinkle inside of salmon with salt and pepper; dot with butter. Arrange overlapping slices of onion, lemon and parsley in cavity. Brush salmon with oil.

Wrap in heavy-duty aluminum foil; seal edges with double fold. Place on grill over medium-hot coals. Carefully turn salmon every 10 minutes.

Test for doneness after 45 minutes by inserting meat thermometer in thickest part. Cook to internal temperature of 160° or until salmon flakes easily when tested with a fork at thickest part.

To serve, transfer salmon to serving platter and fold back foil. Cut between bone and meat with a wide spatula; lift off each serving. Serve with lemon wedges.

Makes 8 to 12 servings.

Brandy Frappe

1 pt. brandy
 1 pt. half-and-half

1/4 cup undiluted frozen orange or pineapple juice concentrate

1 qt. orange or pineapple sherbet

Pour brandy and half-and-half into a shallow pan. Stir to blend, then freeze.

When ready to serve, turn half mixture into chilled blender jar. Add half the fruit juice concentrate and sherbet. Blend at high speed.

Pour into serving glasses. Repeat with remaining ingredients.

Makes about 2 quarts beverage (10 to 12 servings).

Note: The creamy brandy base may be kept frozen and used in smaller amounts, if desired. A quarter of the ingredient amounts will serve 2 to 4 — depending on size of serving desired.

Beverage may also be prepared, turned into serving glasses and held in freezer until semi-frozen, then eaten as a spoon-beverage.

Analyze bids on building car emission test stations

A California firm is the "front runner" of three bidders seeking a state contract to construct and operate vehicle emission testing stations in Madison-St. Clair counties and the Chicago metropolitan area.

Systems Control Inc. of Palo Alto submitted the lowest bid of $4.83 per vehicle test, in a bid opening at the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency office in Springfield July 3.

The other two bidders for the five-year contract were Hamilton, Test and Service of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mostard-Platt Associates of Bensenville, Ill. Their price bids were $5.20 and $6.18 respectively.

The Systems Control bid is substantially lower than the cost of vehicle emission tests in other states, said IEPA spokesman Will Flower.

He attributed it to "economy of scale," and said Illinois will have the first centralized program in the nation.

An estimated 122,000 vehicles in portions of Madison and St. Clair counties and about 2.3 million vehicles in most of the Chicago metro area will be subject to the annual mandatory tests.

The IEPA is estimating about 3 million tests will be performed annually (including retesting of those vehicles flunking the first test).

The state is paying for the test program out of gasoline tax receipts. Vehicle owners will have to pay themselves for any required repairs or maintenance.

Each of the three bidders was also evaluated by an advisory committee on technical proposals, including financial management evaluations.

The firm that received the highest score on the technical evaluation was Hamilton, Test and Service, which submitted the highest price bid.

Hamilton received a score of 29.5 out of a possible 300. Mostard-Platt's score was 261.75 and Systems Control, 254.9.

However, because a point is subtracted for each cent over the low bid on the price side, Systems Control is considered the "front runner" to get the contract, Flower said.

A group of firms which has lobbied against the centralized contract approach, in favor of permitting gas stations and other service facilities to operate portable testing equipment, had alleged Hamilton might have an inside track on getting the contract because its Illinois lobbyist was James Fletcher, a former top deputy to Gov. James Thompson.

IEPA Director Richard Carlson was not ready to make an immediate decision, awaiting staff evaluation of the proposal.

Flower said that since the IEPA has 16 alternatives from three different bidders, all qualifications on the cost proposals need to be reviewed.

The agency wants the testing stations in operation by early next year. Three stations are to be built in Metro East and 15 in the Chicago area.

Flower said locations of the test stations in Madison and St. Clair counties have not yet been decided, though the bidders have been scouting for them. It will be up to the state to bid out to establish the locations, he said.

In Madison County, vehicle owners in Venice, Madison, Granite City, Ponton Beach, Mabel, Hartford, Roxana, South Roxana, Bethalto, Wood River, Alton and East Alton will be subject to the testing requirement.

A law authorizing the test program was passed last year after threats from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to impose sanctions, such as a freeze on federal highway funds and a halt to new industrial construction. The two metropolitan areas are still in compliance with the federal Clean Air Act on ozone and hydrocarbon pollution.

Monetary investment slowing

By Donald C. Bauder
Copley News Service

Business investment spending appears to be slowing down, and lower interest rates might not revive it.

That's a pity, because capital spending by businesses has been the backbone of the expansion. Non-housing investment spending has surged at an annual rate of 13.7 percent since the fourth quarter of 1982.

However, business capital spending had been deteriorating over a couple of decades, and we really haven't built our capacity back to where it should be. "The so-called spending boom of the past two years has failed to restore industrial production to normal ratios. Manufacturing and industrial materials capacity utilization rates have actually declined since their interim recovery peaks reached last August," said John Winthrop Wright of Bridgeport, Conn.-based Wright Investors' Service.

New plant and equipment expenditures grew at a real (inflation-adjusted) annual rate of 2.56 percent from 1980 to 1984, said Wright. That growth rate pales by comparison with the 7.2 percent from 1980 to 1984 and 6.8 percent from 1965 to 1969. In fact, plant and equipment spending growth over the last five years has been the slowest since 1950, said Wright.

However, some other economists, measuring the spending over different time periods, say that recent spending actually has been stronger than in prior periods. Arthur Smith of Houston's Econoclast said that real investment spending since 1982 has been going "faster than the average of other recent recoveries."

Nonetheless, Smith, too, is concerned.

"The growing role of imports is taking its toll," said Smith. "More and more business equipment investment is satisfied by imports," and the badly battered metal fabrication industries of the Midwest (machine tools, construction equipment, etc.) can attest to that.

Another problem is that the merger and acquisition craze — particularly the hostile takeovers — has sucked up capital that should have been going into expansion. In short, U.S. corporations have been trying to buy growth, instead of bootstrapping it.

"U.S. businessmen possibly are being goaded into short-term perspectives by the recent deluge of hostile takeovers and threats of takeovers," said Wright.

There's no doubt whatsoever about that: Companies have been slashing their investment spending to jack up short-term earnings and shore up their stocks, in hopes shareholders won't tender to the takeover bandits.

As takeover activity has heated up, growth in spending has slowed in each of the last three quarters, and the 3.4 percent annual rate for the first quarter of this year was the slowest since the first quarter of 1983.

Economists fear even weaker future numbers.

"Capital spending is the area of greatest uncertainty," said Roger E. Brinner of Data Resources Inc., who has shaved his forecast for business fixed investment spending for 1985 and 1986.

Lower interest rates will only persuade companies to raise spending if the overall economy is strong, say many economists. Thus, easy money will be no cure unless it induces consumers — who dominate the economy — to spend. And that's questionable.

Allen Sinai of Shearson Lehman

Brothers, projects that business spending will grow only 6.6 percent this year, down from the almost 20 percent increase last year, although he believes that "a near 7 percent rate of increase still is quite adequate by the standards of other business expansions."

Growth in business-fixed investment will slow, and "this is likely to mean continued flatness in business equipment production," said Richard S. Peterson, economist for Chicago's Continental Bank. With investment slowing, import competition billowing and businesses trying to trim inventories, industrial production will be the economy's "weak sector in the months immediately ahead," he said.

Technical problem causes statement from Nesco plant

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive Editor

A minor technical problem resulted in the closure announcement of Nesco Steel Barrel Co.'s "hazardous waste storage facility" in Granite City.

The problem was minor and the company was quick to correct it, according to Mike Grant, the Illinois Environment Protection Agency investigator who checked the site.

The company unwittingly, technically changed classification from being a waste generating facility to being a storage facility, Grant said.

The employee-owned company was saving money by re-using painting materials used for barrels. Grant said the company can save waste for up to 90 days for purposes of re-use, but they had saved some material longer.

Saving the thinner and lacquer materials beyond 90 days technically made the company a waste storage facility. Grant said the company had agreed to ship drums of material that might have to be kept beyond 90 days to an appropriate storage facility.

Jobs are not affected, and the company will continue normal operations at the site following closure of the storage facility.

Triplets' streak is halted by Alton legion, 11-1

By JOE THOMPSON
Staff writer

ALTON — Tri-City's six-game victory streak died a horrible death Thursday night here, and at a most inopportune time.

Committing five errors, their previously thundering bats silenced with just five hits, and a parade of four pitchers giving up 11 hits, the Triplets lost a chance to move into the top spot of the American Legion District 22 standings with a 11-1 loss to Alton.

The thrashing dropped the Triplets to 9-9 in the North Division with two games remaining. Alton remained in first place (pending a later game that night) with a 10-7 record. Alton also avenged a 5-4 defeat earlier in the year.

Triplet Coach Dave Coakley agreed the contest was significant, but his team never seemed to get up for the program.

"I don't believe they were really that much," Coakley said. "They knew the game was important." The Triplets hope they can at least finish in the top three places of the standings. Such a finish would award them a first-round bye in the District 22 league playoffs which begin Monday.

Also within striking distance of the league title are Collinsville and Highland.

The Triplets were forced to settle without part of their arsenal in their biggest game of the season. Their leading pitcher, Sam Tate, did not attend the game, apparently because of work commitments. Also, Matt Rose, pitcher and starting shortstop, was out of town and unavailable for duty.

For all intents, the Triplets' winning streak ended as early as the second inning.

With the bases loaded and one out, Triplets' starting hurler Allen Zentgraf threw a high and tight fastball to Craig Lombardi.

Lombardi, who bats eighth in the order, came out of the handcuffed position meaning business. He swung hard and the ball met the business end of his bat, resulting in a slashing line drive that darted to the right centerfield fence clearing the bases.

"I think that was the key," Coakley said.

The three run blow knocked the Triplets back on their heels, and play seemed to deteriorate accordingly.

"If we could have held them there," Coakley said.

Alton manager Harry Jorkamp agreed the baseball was the Triplets' death knell.

"I think that was the key hit. Definitely was," Jorkamp said.

Looking back on the three other baseballs that followed off Lom-bardi's bat and two additional RBIs, Jorkamp continued, "but he was four-for-four. He had an exceptionally good game. They were all sweet." But his first hit was the sweetest. "Yeah, it was a jam pitch," said Lombardi, who owned a .358 average going into the contest. "But I had a solid swing. I sort of like them up and in...It was a good game for me."

Zentgraf was removed from the game with one out and two on in the fourth and the score 4-1. "His ball kept going up higher and higher," Coakley said. "His ball kept coming up. He couldn't get it down."

Tim Gray, Gerald Booker and Darin Spaulding followed. Gray allowed a run scoring single before putting out the fourth inning fire. He pitched within one out of the fifth before giving way to Booker.

Alton sealed victory by exploding for five runs in that fifth frame. Most of the blame rested with the Triplets' defense. With two outs, one run in and a runner on base, the normally sure-handed Mark Bowen was unable to come up with a sharp grounder at first base. A run scored and another followed on a bashed by Joey Bowen.

Pat Cathey, who led the Triplets at the plate with a double and a triple driving in the lone run, threw into the dirt past first base from his shortstop position. The error allowed two more runs to cross the plate.

Coakley pointed out the Triplets' bats often bailed them out of trouble resulting from poor pitching and

Hogan Plumbing makes most of least

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Sometimes you will take them anyway you can, just ask Kelly Hogan Plumbing.

The local junior American Legion baseball team made the most of its five hits Wednesday night edging Greenville 3-2. The win upped Kelly Hogan's record to 12-3 and was the team's 11th straight victory.

Pitcher Jeff Zukas found an unexpected power supply in fanning 10 batters (he issued 6 walks). Zukas survived a shaky fourth and sixth inning and went the distance.

Zukas' performance followed a brilliant outing by right-hander Jay Valbert who pitched Hogan Plumbing to a win over Troy on July 9. Valbert has been one of the team's most consistent hurlers. His record, combined with high school play, is an impressive 12-1. And, his ERA is slightly over one.

Greenville managed just four hits — one each in the final four innings of the game. They threatened in the sixth scoring one time after an error and a fielder's choice. However, a baserunning blunder by pitcher Kurt Thacker killed a Greenville rally.

With one out, Joe Ketchum on first and Thacker on second, Mike Beatty bounced to second baseman Charlie Collins who flipped to Jaime Hogan forcing Ketchum at second.

Hogan then alerted throw to third baseman Darin Hendrickson. He tagged out Thacker who had rounded the base too far. The inning ended when Zukas fanned Steve Danomon. "It was a good, heads-up play," said Kelly Hogan Manager Paul Kacera.

And almost identical situation occurred in the seventh as Greenville tried to tie the game. "If the third baseman holds his position, we have him out again," Kacera said.

In the end the play was meaningless after Zukas got Frank Doll to ground out ending the game.

Despite giving up the high number of walks Zukas was still effective. "I threw mostly fastballs," he said. "I used the curve in the first three innings, but later it wasn't dropping off."

Zukas struck out six through the first three innings and didn't allow a hit.

"Jeff pitched well," said Coach Carl Benson. "The walks didn't hurt as much as the two double play balls we misplayed."

Kelly Hogan spotted Greenville a run in the fourth. Doll was hit by a pitch and Thacker reached on an error by Collins.

Ketchum got a second life after a pop fly bounced harmlessly to the ground in foul territory just outside

"I really don't know what happened," said Hogan first baseman Scott LeVault on the foul ball prior to the hit. "I kind of got turned around and hit."

Hogan Plumbing, however, bounced back and took the lead for good in the fifth; thanks to some fielding lapses by Greenville.

Mike Georff, who came off bench to play right field in the fourth, sliced one into short right just inside the foul line. He kept running and scored after the relay throw sailed over the shortstop's head.

"That's the shortest run he'll probably ever get," joked a teammate as Georff walked back to the bench. He just smiled.

"It was a fastball, outside," Georff said of the pitch.

With two outs, Rich Wilson singled and later scored on when-fogon reached on an error. Collins then singled moving Hogan to third.

What followed was a combination of good baserunning and a little luck. Collins broke for second and appeared to be picked off by Thacker in a rundown. Just then Hogan took off for home as Greenville first baseman Glenn Knight caught the ball.

Knight hesitated, undecided about where to throw the ball. He chose throw and the ball was high as Hogan slid in safely with his team's third run.

"We finally won a game like that," Benson said. "Usually, we give those kids away."

Hogan said later he was running all the way. "It was good baserunning by Jaime," Benson said.

Prior to the fifth, Hogan Plumbing got just two hits off Thacker — both by leftfielder Todd Adamits. Hogan Plumbing's best scoring chance was in the second when Adamits led off with a single, but was left stranded.

Zukas benefitted from his teammates' good glove work. In the third Randy Chapman dove for a looping ball to end the inning. Catcher Dave Bamper, despite going hitless, gunned down Joe Riggins trying to swipe second in the fifth. In the same frame, Hendrickson made a fine play on a ball hit by Todd Hutchin-

Nesbit bags 'hat trick' of overall 5K titles

By PAT HUTCHISON
Staff writer

As any self-respecting hockey or soccer fan knows, a "hat trick" is when a player scores three goals in a game and is also a cause for celebration.

Granite City's Sam Nesbit may never have turned the trick in those sports, but he has a reason to be proud. He won his third straight overall first-place finish at the Charlie Sears 5K run held in Jerseyville last Tuesday evening.

Nesbit, 27, finished the five-kilometer (approximately 3.1 mile) race in 15:44, earning him the overall prize as well as first place in the 20-29 men's division. He was one of 89 entrants in the race.

For most casual runners, competing in a 5K race is still hard work, but for Nesbit it was like a short jog.

"This is one of the shorter races I'll run," said Nesbit. "I prefer 10K or 15-20K races or half-marathons." As a matter of fact, he has been in the Boston Marathon once, finished fourth in the St. Louis Marathon last year and was eighth in the Heart of America Marathon held in Columbia, Mo.

Several things made the Sears run attractive to Nesbit, however. One was the timing of the event. Most races, particularly in the summertime, are held in the early morning, but the Sears run started at 6 p.m.

"I have some friends who are members of the Alton Road Runners who had heard of the race," said Nesbit, who belongs to USAThletics, which is based in Edwardsville. "They thought that if I run in the evening and I like to run in the evening, I run after work and I'm more used to it than running in the morning."

He also liked competing in the Jerseyville race. "They take good care of you and they know what to do," he said.

"The time he ran the race in, although it was a very good time, was not a personal best. 'I've run 14:30 for the distance, but not in those conditions,' he said.

The conditions included some of the hottest weather so far this year, although the around-90-degree temperatures made it "the coolest run we've had the last three years," said Jerseyville's Daniel Wilson, who compiled the results for the race. "I haven't had any really hot weather this year, so I don't think we were used to it," said Nesbit of the temperatures.

As for the competition at the race, he added, "The only guy I knew would be tough was the guy who was second, Dave Davkavski. He's my training partner. I run with him about two or three times a week.

"That's one chance you take with a race like that. You never know who'll show up," Nesbit added.

Nesbit has been running for "about 15 years" and competed in both track and cross-country in high school and college. He is a 1975 graduate of Granite City High School and competed at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

"It (running) is just something I've enjoyed," he said. "When I got into competition I found I liked the competition."

He likes it well enough that he enters almost 50 races a year. "I race probably more than I should," he said. "I've been told that if I cut it in half I can do better."

The race in Jerseyville came at a good time as he was on vacation and missed the 10K run at the Veiled Prophet Fair in St. Louis July 4 weekend. "I've missed a couple of big races this year due to bad timing," he said.

When not racing, Nesbit, a private-school teacher in Granite City, follows a training program that would astound more casual runners.

He runs twice a day, four easy miles in the morning and 8-10 miles in the afternoon, adding up to almost 100 miles per week. "I go all over town or just anywhere I feel like," Nesbit said. "Sometimes I go to Forest Park, and I usually run at SIU on Tuesdays, or I run some hills to break the monotony."

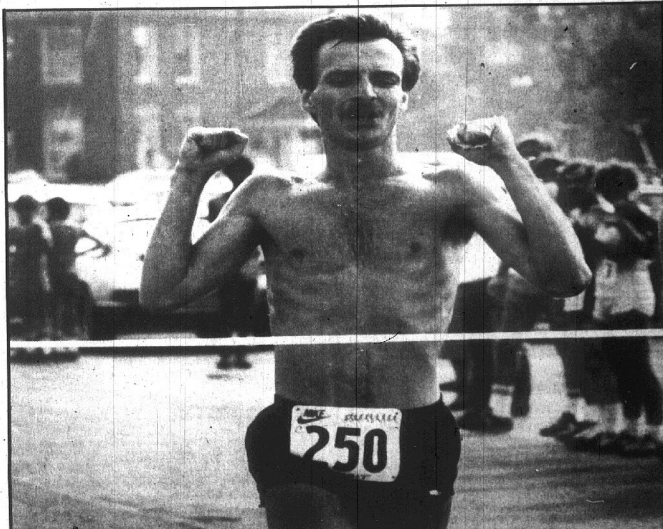

Nesbit also has done some weight training, although "I don't feel too much is necessary," he said, and gets on a bicycle once in a while.

The club he belongs to also helps. "It gives me someone to run with," said Nesbit. "We have a coach (Bob Hyten, Jr.) who gives us advice and lets us know when we're doing too much."

"We have guys who have more speed than I have, and I have more endurance. That makes for some good workouts," he added.

He's only suffered one serious injury. "Four years ago I hurt my knee while coaching wrestling in Granite," he recalls. "I was out of running for months and I put on about 35 pounds. It took about a year to a year and a half to get back into shape."

As a result, any advice Nesbit has for staying injury-free should be taken. In particular, he has tips for anyone running in hot weather. "You've gotta make sure to get all the fluids you can," he said.

RUNNING WILD. Granite City distance runner Sam Nesbit, celebrating an earlier victory, had reason to feel good after winning the Charlie Sears 5K run in Jerseyville Tuesday. It was Nesbit's third overall first place finish.

Area YMCA supports new sports complex

BELLEVILLE — The Southwest Illinois YMCA Board of Directors have voted to endorse Belleville Area College's proposed tax increase referendum.

In making the endorsement, the YMCA board agreed to join the college as partners to build and operate a $10 million YMCA/BAC sports complex at the BAC Belleville Campus.

YMCA Executive Director Ray Sonnenberg said the organization's recently completed long-range study points to the need for more space and additional facilities.

"If we stay in our present building, we're not going to be able to meet our needs by 1993 and on into the future," Sonnenberg said. "A tremendous amount of resources are required just to maintain this building."

Sonnenberg's statement is based on extensive study of future needs. The YMCA board began a study of future activity and facility needs more than two years ago. A planning survey of YMCA members was completed in 1984. Marketing statistics and trends also were studied.

The existing buildings were examined by representatives of the national YMCA's Building and Furnishings Services. Those representatives said the Belleville Center will need major renovation in the next five years.

The YMCA board then looked at the present site to decide if a renovated building could provide enough space to meet the needs of the members as identified in the survey.

Area YMCA supports new sports complex

BELLEVEILLE — The Southwest Illinois YMCA Board of Directors have voted to endorse Belleville Area College's proposed tax increase referendum.

Representatives of the YMCA and BAC toured a joint venture between Highland Community College and the YMCA in Freeport, Ill., and learned how working together has benefited both organizations there.

Sonnenberg explained the YMCA board's reasons for deciding to enter the joint venture with Belleville Area College. Once the Y board decided more space was needed, it began a search for a new site. One option considered was working with Belleville Area College.

The YMCA board then looked at the present site to see if a renovated building could provide enough space to meet the needs of the members as identified in the survey.

Area bow users need to apply for hunting permits soon

SPRINGFIELD — Bow hunters have from July 1 through Aug. 4 to submit permit applications for two special archery deer hunts slated Oct. 26-27 on the Gardner Division of the Mark Twain National Refuge near Quincy and on the state-managed Union County Refuge in southern Illinois.

The Mark Twain archery hunt will be open to 200 hunters and the Union County hunt will be limited to 100 persons, according to Forrest Loomis, Department of Conservation forest wildlife program manager. Permits will be allocated by lottery shortly after the Aug. 4 deadline.

Hunters may apply for either of the permit lotteries by sending a short note or letter to the Department of Conservation. Persons wanting to participate in the Mark Twain Refuge hunt should write to: Department of Conservation, Deer Bow Permit — Mark Twain Refuge, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill.

62706. To apply for the Union County Refuge, the address to write is: Deer Archery Hunt, Union County Refuge, R.R. 2, Jonesboro, Ill. 62552. No special application form is required to apply for either hunt, Loomis said.

"Since the hunting dates for the Mark Twain Refuge and the Union County Refuge coincide," Loomis said, "hunters may apply for only one of the special hunts. We don't want hunters applying for both hunts and possibly shutting out another eligible hunter if their applications are drawn for both areas. Therefore, the persons who apply for permits in both hunts will be deemed ineligible for either of the special archery hunts."

Each application letter must list the hunter's name as shown on his state hunting license, complete address, 1985 hunting license number and 1985 archery deer hunting permit number.

Because of this last requirement, hunters must apply for and receive a state archery deer hunting permit before applying for the special refuge hunt.

Group applications are limited to two persons per party. Each hunter must submit a separate application note with all the required information. Both applications should then be mailed in the same envelope.

Only one application per hunter will be accepted for either of the special refuge hunts, Loomis said. Duplicate permit applications will result in the rejection of all the hunter's applications.

Hunters who receive permits in the drawings will be notified by mail in early September, Loomis said. Because of the high volume of permit applications, however, it will be impossible to notify unsuccessful applicants.

All Illinois bow hunting regulations will apply to the refuge hunts, with the exception that daily hunting hours will end at 5 p.m. in the Mark Twain Refuge. Each hunter will receive a special refuge bow hunting permit and a packet of information and regulations pertaining to the hunt. The refuge permit must be in the hunter's possession during the hunt.

Pre-hunt scouting is not permitted on either the Mark Twain Refuge or Union County Refuge. Archers will be allowed in the hunting areas during the special hunt dates, Oct.

26-27, only.

Only one deer per hunter may be harvested by bow-and-arrow in Illinois, Loomis said. Hunters who are not successful during the special refuge hunting programs may continue to hunt elsewhere in Illinois until the close of the archery season, Dec. 31.

Loomis said opening the refuge areas for a limited deer hunting program is basically a herd management measure, intended to keep the deer size in balance with the available habitat and food resources.

"The recreational opportunities resulting from these special hunts are of secondary importance," he said. "The primary concern is for the overall health of the deer herd using the refuge areas."

Wildlife artists may enter art contest

SPRINGFIELD — Application forms are now available for the 1986 Illinois Migratory Waterfowl Stamp Art Contest, administered by the Department of Conservation in cooperation with Illinois Ducks Unlimited.

Entries, completed forms, and the $10 entry fee will be accepted beginning Sept. 15, and concluding at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 25, according to DOC Director Michael Witte.

The waterfowl stamp contest will be held at the Decatur Holiday Inn, Sept. 25-29, in conjunction with the Second Annual Pride of the Prairie Illinois Wildlife Productions Art Show and Sale and National Hunting and Fishing Day. Judging for the duck stamp art will begin at 9 a.m., Sept. 28.

White said all Illinois residents are eligible, except for the year's winning artist and Department of Conservation employees and immediate relatives. The winning art work will be displayed on the 1986 Illinois Migratory Waterfowl Stamp.

The 1985 stamp featured a pair of redheads painted by Princeton artist Bart Kassabaum, who previously won in 1980 and 1983, making him an unprecedented three-time winner.

The subject for the 1986 contest, Witte said, will be the gadwall.

A $1,000 purchase-award will be presented to the winner, along with 100 artist proof prints. The winning artist will also have the right to remarque a limited edition of 200 prints for an additional $10 charge per print. A remarque — valued by collectors — consists of a small drawing placed on the print's border.

Contest rules state that only one entry be submitted per individual. The artwork may be completed in any medium but must be in full color. Entries will be judged on biological accuracy and artistic merit by a panel of judges with backgrounds in art, wildlife biology and printing reproduction.

Contest rules and application forms may be obtained by writing: Department of Conservation, ATTN: Curt Bloome, Duck Stamp Art Contest Coordinator, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill. 62706. Questions regarding the Pride of the Prairie Art Show should be directed to: Gene Pride, Illinois Wildlife Productions, 342 Southwest Lawn, Decatur, Ill. 61522; Tel. (217) 428-9143, or 429-4253.

DOC slates repairs on two area parks

Portions of Pere Marquette State Park and Frank Holten State Park have been closed to accommodate renovation work, the department of conservation said.

Pere Marquette is located five miles west of Grafton in Jersey County. Frank Holten State Park is in East St. Louis.

The island area at Holten is expected to be closed for the remainder of the year while a major overhaul of the picnic facility is underway.

Plans call for blacktopping a three-quarter mile section of roadway, blacktopping and rehabilitating the 80-car parking lot, drainage improvements and installation of fill material in low spots that have constantly collected water.

At Pere Marquette, the main campground and day-use area east of it will be expanded and their electrical service facilities upgraded.

The day-use area includes the park amphitheatre, sanitary dumping station and the east toilet building. The two areas are expected to re-open in early September.

Campground reservations will be accepted again beginning Sept. 15.

During the shutdown, approximately 20 Class C camping sites will be available to tent and RV campers in an overflow campground south of the main camp site.

Conservation officials said the main campground's toilet and shower building and up to 20 camping pads may be open as early as July 28, depending on construction progress.

Potential users are advised to call ahead to the park offices for a condition report.

Madison runners fare well in race

EDWARDSVILLE — The Madison Track Club fared well at the Prairie State Games preliminaries held recently at the track at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Madison's Reggie Young and Oliver Walker qualified for the championship meet to be held next weekend in Champaign.

Young, who won the triple jump with a leap of 44-feet 2-inches, will advance in that event, and Walker, who placed fifth in the 100 meter dash, will be placed on the 400 meter relay team.

The Tri-City Area YMCA is offering monthly racquetball passes which entitle the bearer to unlimited access to court time, either prime or non-prime.

The cost of the pass is $30 to non-members, $25 for participating members and $20 to Nautilus and physical members. In addition, the YMCA is offering a special deal to those who wish to play all summer in air-conditioned courts.

Those who purchase two of the month passes will receive a third month free.

The YMCA's three courts will be air-conditioned during prime-time hours and whenever they are full, as needed. For further information on court time, racquetball leagues or lessons persons may call the YMCA at 876-2000.

YMCA, MHS sponsor clinics

MADISON — The Tri-City Area YMCA will be sponsoring a free cross country and track clinic next Monday and Tuesday, July 15 and 16.

Each day will have two sessions, the first from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and the second from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

John Platter, coach at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and Charles Steptoe, coach at Madison High School will be the instructors. The clinic will be held at Madison High School.

Interested persons may receive further information by calling the YMCA at 876-7200.

Panther event set for July 27

CHARLESTON — Entries are now being accepted for the 20th Eastern Illinois University Panther Pant, a 12½ mile (20 kilometer) road race that winds through the Coles County countryside.

The race, the second oldest in Illinois, will be held at 7 a.m. Saturday, July 27. A request for applications may be sent to Dr. Thomas Woodall, Lantz Building, EIU, Charleston 61920 (217-581-3510) and must include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

There is a $5 entry fee and applications must be postmarked by July 20. A $6 late fee is charge for people entering up to race time.

In conjunction with the Panther Pant there is a four-mile "Short" Pant on the same day open to anyone "who doesn't have the fitness level required of the longer distance."
